

Interactive videoconferencing

Help sheet

8: Videoconferencing educational resource websites

General

Higher Education Research and Development Society of Australasia

- www.herdsa.org.au/

This is a scholarly society for people committed to the improvement of teaching and learning in higher and tertiary education.

AARNet Pty Ltd

- www.aarnet.edu.au/

APL is the company that operates Australia's Academic and Research Network (AARNet). It is a not-for-profit company limited by shares. The shareholders are 37 Australian universities and the CSIRO. AARNet provides high-capacity, cost-effective Internet services for the tertiary education and research sector communities and their research partners.

Higher Education Academy

- www.heacademy.ac.uk/

A UK based organisation, the Academy's mission is to help institutions, discipline groups and all staff provide the best possible learning experiences for their students

University of Western Australia

- www.csd.uwa.edu.au/altmodes/to_delivery/index.html

'Alternative Modes to Delivery' offers examples which provide learners with greater control over the content and meaning of what they are learning and over the processes by which they learn.

Health professional education

The Association for Health Professional Education

- www.anzame.unsw.edu.au/

Education Network Australia

- www.edna.edu.au/edna/go

edna is Australia's leading online resource collection and collaborative network for the education and training community.

Clinical skills forum

- www.clinicalskillsforum.org/

The aim of this webpage is to allow professionals from all fields to communicate via a forum and share ideas. The webpage contains sections on videos, a directory, innovations and a simulation section.

Rural and Remote Health Journal

- www.rrh.org.au

An online journal dedicated to serving rural and remote communities throughout the world by providing a community forum and specific health related information

Monash University

Videoconferencing training

- www.adm.monash.edu.au/staff-development/ws/ct/vcm.html

IT Support's videoconferencing page

- www.its.monash.edu.au/staff/videoconf/

Covers videoconferencing within the University. 'Videoconferencing is critical to Monash since we must collaborate across campuses without increasing the burden of travel between campuses'. Contact details (ITS) and information re desk top and other forms of videoconferencing. Link to Monash Videoconferencing Strategy 2007 -2009

Video Development Initiative

- www.vide.net

ViDe promotes the deployment of digital video in research and higher education. The ViDe Video Conferencing Cookbook, is recognised by industry and higher education as the premier "how-to" manual for getting started with Internet videoconferencing.

Learning designs

- www.learningdesigns.uow.edu.au

Information and communication technologies and their role in flexible learning: This web site has been designed for teachers and instructors in higher education to access a rich set of resources that support the development of flexibly delivered high quality learning experiences for students.

Pennsylvania State University

- www.hbg.psu.edu/iit/mw2/etiquette.htm

Guide to all aspects of videoconferencing

Anglia Ruskin University

Cambridge and Chelmsford (UK).

- www.mpd.anglia.ac.uk/vidconguide/index.html

A short guide to videoconferencing. Another series of help pages provided for staff.

University of Idaho

- www.uidaho.edu/eo/dist10.html

A guide to interactive videoconferencing in distance education.

West Midlands Regional Broadband Consortium

- www.wmnet.org.uk/vc/

There are two sections to the material. The first looks at some of the basics of video conferencing. It is aimed at a non-technical audience who are interested in picking up key video conferencing concepts and hints and tips. The second section looks in more depth at teaching and learning using video conferencing. Packed with examples it follows real teachers working in real classrooms and looks at how the technology can support and enable good solid teaching.

Videoconferencing for Learning

- www.kn.pacbell.com/wired/vidconf/

A comprehensive look at the educational uses of videoconferencing for teachers, librarians, students, administrators, technology coordinators, and others interested in the use of this technology. From American telecommunications giant AT &T.